

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING

EVICTIION NOTICE

Please be advised that your home will be ransacked, doused in gasoline and torched to the ground as of 9pm tonight.

Any resistance will be met with torture and/or lethal force. But don't feel bad. This has already happened to millions of people. You just weren't aware of it because it hasn't taken place in your neighborhood. So don't be alarmed, this eviction notice obviously isn't real. But now you understand what it feels like to be a refugee. People just like you that are forced to flee their homes in fear of persecution or death for no other reason than their personal beliefs. Right now, there are more than 20 million refugees worldwide struggling for survival. That's why the United Nations Refugee Agency is asking for your support. Your donation will go directly towards providing basic needs like shelter, fresh water and health care. Please give by going to www.unhcr.ca

Many people in 'first world' countries don't know what it means to be a refugee.

To help them understand, the UN Refugee Agency distributed mock eviction notices to residents in upscale neighborhoods.

We regret to inform you that your house has been taken over as a hideout for militia groups and terrorists effective immediately.

If you don't leave right now you will be beaten, stripped naked and given a twenty-second head start before we start opening gunfire. This may seem harsh, but believe it or not, this kind of thing has already happened to millions of people. You just didn't notice because it hasn't occurred in your neighborhood. So clearly, this isn't a real eviction notice. But now you have some sense of what a refugee goes through. These are people just like you, constantly living in fear of being terrorized or killed. Right now, there are more than 20 million refugees worldwide struggling for survival. That's why the United Nations Refugee Agency is asking for your support. Your donation will go directly towards providing basic needs like shelter, fresh water and health care. Please give by going to www.unhcr.ca
