

Oh good, the sun's out - which means

those unwanted hairs on my upper lip

will stand out.

It's all wrong.

Lips are for Kissing and Porting and Licking cappuccino froth off.

Not for supporting a patch of hair.

And I just can't BELIEVE it keeps coming back.

Doesn't it realise it's UNWANTED?

I feel like

I'm being stalked by my own follicles

It's not how it's MEANT to be.

The mothers in the breastfeeding pamphlets are always smiling serenely -

NOT GRIMACING IN PAIN.

That's ok, I'll think about the banding.

Still there's always the other side...

Oh, no, that one HURTS too.

I'm sitting on a bus. STATIONARY. Exerting ZERO energy. Yet

I'm sweating like a fugitive.

I've got nothing to hide.

Apart from the HUGE WET MARKS UNDER MY ARMS
which are slowly making their way down my sides.

Oh, great, I can feel that wonderful CLINGY sensation on my back now too.

I could be the winner of the very first

I hope I don't have to raise my arms in victory.
